Hyderabad, May 7 Choice Solutions Ltd, an IT infrastructure management company, has opened a Network Operation Centre in Hyderabad to offer the services remotely, helping the companies reduce significant investments on maintenance of computers and servers.

Addressing a press conference here, Mr K.V. Jagannath, Managing Director of Choice Solutions, said the company was targeting at small and medium firms.

“A few multinational companies are also offering similar services but the small firms cannot afford the pricing,” he said. It was looking at serving those firms which managed ‘end points’ (computers and servers) in the range of 50-5,000.

“We constantly monitor the health of the end points and can preempt most of the problems, reducing the time-to-attend period significantly,” he said. Besides, organisations could save spending on anti-virus and other common solutions.
